Life after Foster Care 2018-08-17

this book appries readers of the present conditions of former and emancipated foster youth provides evidence based best practices regarding their experiences and proposes new policies for ensuring better outcomes for these children upon discharge from foster care for most american youth the transition to adulthood is gradual and aided by support from parents and others in contrast foster youth are expected to arrive at self sufficiency abruptly and without the same level of support such an expectation may be due in part to what loring paul jones has found in his research that many of the studies conducted thus far have been fragmented and incomplete often focusing on a particular state or agency that may follow policies not applicable nationwide this book connects the dots between these disparate studies to provide child welfare practitioners policy makers and students with a broader picture of the state of american youth following discharge from foster care it examines not only child welfare policies but also related policies in areas such as housing and education that may contribute to the success or failure of foster youth in society it additionally draws lessons from successful programs to provide readers with the tools needed to develop foster and after care systems that more closely mirror the support afforded to youth in the general population

Space Fostering African Societies 2019-12-24

this book provides detailed insights into how space and its applications are and can be used to support the development of the full range and diversity of african societies as encapsulated in the african union s agenda 2063 like previous books in the southern space studies series it focuses on the role of space in supporting the un sustainable development goals in africa but it covers an even more extensive array of relevant and timely topics addressing all facets of african development it demonstrates that while great achievements have been made in recent years in terms of economic and social development which has lifted many of africa s people out of poverty there is still much that needs to be done to fulfill the basic needs of africa s citizens and afford them the dignity they deserve to this end space is already being employed in diverse fields of human endeavor to serve africa s goals for its future but there is much room for further incorporation of space systems and data providing a comprehensive overview of the role space is playing in achieving africa s developmental aspirations the book is of great interest to both students and professionals in fields such as space studies international relations governance social and rural development and many others

Fostering Permanence 1990

this book draws on archival oral history and public policy sources to tell a history of foster care in australia from the nineteenth century to the present day it is primarily a social history which places the voices of people directly touched by foster care at the centre of the story but also within the wider social and political debates which have shaped foster care across more than a century the book confronts foster care's difficult past death and abuse of foster children family separation and a general public apathy towards these issues but it also acknowledges the resilience of people who have survived a childhood in foster care and the challenges faced by those who have worked hard to provide good foster homes and to make child welfare systems better these are themes which the book examines from an australian perspective but which often resonate with foster care globally healthy mental emotional and behavioral meb development is a critical foundation for a productive adulthood much is known about strategies to support families and communities in strengthening the meb development of children and youth by promoting healthy development and also by preventing and mitigating disorder so that young people reach adulthood ready to thrive and contribute to society over the last decade a growing body of research has significantly strengthened understanding of healthy meb development and the factors that influence it as well as how it can be fostered yet the united states has not taken full advantage of this growing knowledge base ten years later the nation still is not effectively mitigating risks for poor meb health outcomes these risks remain prevalent and available data show no significant reductions in their prevalence fostering healthy mental emotional and behavioral development in children and youth a national agenda examines the gap between current research and achievable national goals for the next ten years this report identifies the complexities of childhood influences and highlights the need for a tailored approach when implementing new policies and practices this report provides a framework for a cohesive multidisciplinary national approach to improving meb health

Youth Leaving Foster Care 2000

each year tens of thousands of teenagers are released from the foster care system in the united states without high school degrees homes or strong family relationships two to four years after discharge half of these young people still do not have either a high school diploma or equivalency degree and fewer than ten percent enter college nearly a third end up on public assistance within fifteen months and eventually more than a third will be arrested or convicted of a crime in this richly detailed and often surprising exploration of the foster care system betsy krebs and paul pitcoff argue that the existing foster care system sets teens up to fail by inadequately preparing them for adult life they contend that the primary goal of foster care for teenagers should be preparation for a fully productive adult life and that current policies and practice are misguided the authors draw on their fifteen years of experience working with teens and the foster care system to introduce new ways to empower teens to be responsible for themselves and to identify and develop their potential they also explore what sorts of resources legal financial and human will need to come from inside and outside the system to ensure that more teens reach successful independence ultimately krebs and pitcoff argue that change must include the participation of caring communities of volunteers who want to see disadvantaged youth succeed as well as the use of creative approaches such as the socratic method to help teens to take control of their lives bringing together a series of inspiring real life accounts beyond the foster care system introduces readers to a number of dynamic young people who have participated in the youth advocacy center s programs their stories demonstrate that alternatives to the standard way of providing foster care are not only imaginable but possible with the practical improvements krebs and pitcoff outline teens can learn the skills of effective self advocacy become better prepared for the transition to independence and avoid becoming the statistics that foster care has so often produced in the past
